Sara Lundquist Appointed to Commission on Teacher Credentialing

January 16, 2003—Sacramento – Executive Director Robert L. Moore today appointed Sara Lundquist as the California Postsecondary Education Commission representative to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing. “I am extremely pleased that Dr. Lundquist has accepted this appointment. Postsecondary education institutions, and increasingly community colleges, play a critical role in teacher training and professional development, and I know that Sara will bring to the teacher credentialing commission a wealth of knowledge and experience,” Mr. Moore said.

Dr. Lundquist has served in the California Community Colleges for 24 years and has directed the Santa Ana Partnership, a collaborative K-16 vehicle for urban educational reform work, since 1991. She also is a principal investigator for major grants with the Ford and Kellogg Foundations, and serves as a consultant for the U.S. Department of Education via the National Council for Community and Education Partnerships on matters of student access and educational achievement, educational policy, and sustainable educational reform.

The California Postsecondary Education Commission coordinates, plans, and provides information regarding the state’s higher education systems. It advises the Governor and Legislature on higher education policy and fiscal issues.

The California Commission on Teacher Credentialing is the state’s administrative agency that grants and assesses teaching credentials.
